

EXPERIENCE. CRAFTSMANSHIP. KNOWLEDGE.

For over a decade, Tekton Development has been a leader in the construction industry providing general contracting, construction management, green building development, consulting and construction manager as constructor services. Always seeking new ways to improve on the construction process, we bring a fresh perspective and keen insight to every project. Led by Tekton President, Brendan Murray, we have extensive experience in executing various types of institutional, commercial and residential projects throughout New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania.

Projects are handled with personalized attention and commitment to project safety by our internal staff and extensive network of subcontractors. Services on any given project can range from review and validation of plans; management and due diligence over the bid process; compliance to safety regulations; consideration for alternative resources that meet environmental standards; accountability and reliability of all workers assigned to each project.

Building Green – Sustaining the Future

At Tekton, we are committed to constructing sustainable and environmentally responsible buildings. Company President, Brendan Murray, has achieved LEED (Leadership in Energy and Energy Design) Accredited Professional (AP) status from the United States Green Building Council (USGBC). This unique experience of bringing green building knowledge to the early stages of project planning has had a significant impact on the methods and designs used to execute a project.
